“The Pulver 100 is the IP Communications industry’s first and foremost award listing, and it continues to grow in significance, because companies like XConnect, continue to spread IP communications via their VoIP Peering and ENUM solutions said Carl Ford, Vice President of Content and Community for Pulvermedia. “We’re proud to name XConnect to this year’s Pulver 100.”

“With more than 400 service providers in our network, XConnect has emerged as the de facto leader in VoIP Peering Federations and ENUM Registries” said Eli Katz, CEO of XConnect. “We’re honored that Pulver Media recognizes both our leading role in the development of the voice peering space, as well as how we’ve grown the business to support voice and video, and we look towards 2007 as a year of widespread enablement of secure, rich multi-media end-to-end IP Communications.”

Originally introduced in 2002, the Pulver 100 features private companies that impact the distribution of communications and entertainment with Internet technology. These companies have substantial real-world deployments and enjoy significant growth rates. The value chain characterized by the Pulver 100 differs from the vertically integrated model of the last century, focusing more on the direct interface to customers and consumers which has been brought about by the Internet.
